Penndel Borough, although small, is rich in history. The area, originally inhabited by the Lenni Lenape Indians, was settled by Thomas Langhorne, an English Quaker preacher, and by Henry Paulin, a Quaker Yeoman, on land grants from William Penn.

Penndel remained a farming region until 1876 when the Philadelphia Reading Railroad began service and the Langhorne train station was established. Homes and small businesses were built within close proximity to the railroad and the area was known as the Eden Post Office. It began as the Eden Post Office and was incorporated as the borough of A. It was later moved to South Langhorne in 1919, and finally

The Borough operates under a permit for Municipal Separate Storm Sewer Systems (MS4 permit) linked to: http://www.portal.state.pa.us/portal/server.pt/community/stormwater_management/21377 and supports all activities that promote clean water, water conservation and rainwater harvesting.

Please promptly report any stormwater pollution observed within the borough to the borough office at 215-757-5152.

Your Watersheds

Much of Penndel Borough drains to the Neshaminy Creek, but the northeast quadrant of the Borough drains to the Delaware River.

Stormwater Runoff

No changes to current content

Stormwater runoff is generated when precipitation and snowmelt events flows over land or impervious surfaces and does not percolate into the ground. As the runoff flows over the land or impervious surfaces (paved streets, parking lots, and building rooftops), it accumulates debris, chemicals, sediment or other pollutants that could adversely affect water quality if the runoff is discharged untreated

Because stormwater runoff is generated from dispersed land surfaces—pavements, yards, driveways, and roofs—efforts to control stormwater pollution must consider individual, household, and public behaviors and activities that can generate pollution from these surfaces. These common individual behaviors have the potential to generate stormwater pollution:

- littering
- disposing of trash and recyclables
- disposing of pet-waste
- applying lawn-chemicals
- washing cars,
- changing motor-oil on impervious driveways
- household behaviors like disposing leftover paint and household chemicals

It takes individual behavior change and proper practices to control such pollution

For the past 5+ years, Penndel has been involved in a process to revitalize the business district. The Borough Council continues to recognize that the future economic health of our borough depends on the development of our business district. The County, State and Federal governments, recognizing our strategic location regarding access to public transportation and highways, have provided grants to enable Penndel Environmental Advisory Committee : An Environmental Advisory Committee is a group of 3-7 community residents that advise the local planning commission, park and recreation board and elected officials on the protection, conservation, management, promotion and use of the natural resources within its territorial limits.

Home Improvement Consumer Protection Act: Contractors who perform home improvements are required to register with the Office of Attorney General. While the law requires contractors to register with the Attorney General's office, this registration is not an endorsement of their honesty or quality of work. For this reason, in addition to seeing whether a contractor is registered with the Attorney General's office, you should also:

- Check with the Better Business Bureau.
- Thoroughly check your contractor's references.

Special Needs Register This link enables registration for individuals who will require assistance during an evacuation, because of physical or cognitive limitations, language barriers, or lack of transportation. It will help your first responders make the best use of limited time and resources to help those with no other options for evacuation during an emergency. Individuals, or caregivers on their behalf, are able to register electronically.
